POWELL FOUND GUILTY.

The jury in Frank Fowler's second trial for the killing of his wife, ended this morning. The jury, after deliberating all night came in this morning at nine o'clock with a verdict of guilty, and placed his punishment at 25 years in the penitentiary.

The former trial, which was had at last fall term of this court, convicted Fowler and gave him 40 years in prison at hard labor.

The new sentence is more mild, but should the prisoner serve out the full term of the last sentence, the most of his natural life would be behind him as he is at present some forty years of age.

The following jurors sat on this case and rendered the verdict.

A. M. Baxter, foreman, J. Mesner, J. B. Bullock, J. W. Fortson, J. N. Anderson, A. N. Justice, J. D. McCordell, C. J. Batson, Smith Hall, J. O. Godwin, B. F. Dupree, J. T. Williams.

BRICK ON THE GROUND.

The brick for the new Southside M. E. Church has arrived and are being laid on the ground preparatory to begin work on the new church, which will stand on the Southwest corner of the cross-ings of Lafayette and Appletree streets.

We have not seen the plans of this new church, but understand it is to be a nice one and fully large and commodious enough to meet the need of that congregation for several years to come.

It is expected that the bringing of this church nearer in and closer to the center of population will greatly enhance its usefulness and add also to its present membership.

It will stand on one of the prettiest lots in Dothan, and in a section of town most desirable to live and in a portion of the city that is sure to soon be built up and thickly populated.

The moving of this church and the substituting of a nice house of worship in place of the present one, was a happy thought and one which is sure to redound to the advancement of Methodism in Dothan.

Mr. J. D. Flowers and the present pastor of Southside, are the prime movers in this new church.

NEGRO CONFERENCE.

The A. M. E. Conference of the negro Methodists of this section of the state assembled in Dothan today, Bishop H. B. Parks, presiding.

The negro Methodists of the State are divided into conferences, this one being the "Alabama Conference."

There are one hundred and thirty-six ministers and ten delegates to attend this conference and most of them are present, besides several hundred visitors.

The Conference will meet for their deliberations today in the new church, which is nearing completion in the eastern part of the town, and which is one of the most costly negro churches in the state.

Rev. W. M. Anderson preached last night in the new church, and according to one of the most intelligent of the visiting preachers it was one of the very best sermons he ever listened to.

The Conference will occupy the remainder of the week and adjourn Sunday night.

Bishop Harrell of this church and a missionary to Africa, is present with the Conference and will soon leave the States for his work in the negro's native land.

Mr. Charles Baughman, who was born with his brother, J. W. Baughman, left this morning for his home at Cedar Springs, Ga. in his automobile. The distance is thirty miles and the road is bad yet. Mr. Baughman covers the distance usually in something over two hours.

HOW THE REPORTS READ.

We have been reading and publishing grand jury reports for some time. Heard of them long ago, but have yet to hear of one where the jury failed to visit the jails, and to inspect the bonds of the various county officials. When this is done a shot is always taken at the condition of the roads in the country. No report has come forth yet that did credit to the county on this subject. They usually read "The general condition of the roads is reported bad."

With the exceptions of the number of bills found, the nature of them, dates, name of the foreman we can come very near writing the report of the next grand jury of Houston county. They all read like, and we want to see the time come when the wording of the report is changed to the extent that the reference made to the roads of the county will read differently. It would surprise all of us if some report were to wind up like this: "The condition of the roads of this county is reported good, in fact, better than has ever been known within the memory of the oldest inhabitant." That kind of a report would be something new and strange, still it would make readable stuff. That will be done one of these days.

The farmer will realize that it is cheaper to pull six or eight bales of cotton to the market with two mules than it is to pull two at a time. He will realize that his land will be located nearer the markets by the good roads. He will find that his land is worth twice what it was before the roads were made.

The vote that this good roads amendment received all over the state is a sign that the people are wanting better roads. They will come later.

LOOK INTO THE SEWER.

It is reported that the sanitary sewer on Appletree street, north of the Rose Hill school building, is in bad condition. It is said by a sanitary plumber, that the closets from that school building haven't been drained since they have been installed. It is claimed that the sewer pipe is not on the proper grade, and that the manhole in Appletree street is higher than the one just east of it, where it cannot flow up hill.

This is a serious condition, and one that should be looked into. We are sure that the authorities will make such investigations as necessary, and have whatever work that should be done, to make the building strictly sanitary.

In another column will be found the ad. of the Dothan Business College, which has had a continuous and successful run of more than two years. Prof. Layfield has again assumed active charge of the school, and by a generous use of printer's ink, intends making this one of the largest as well as one of the best business schools in the state. To make things more interesting, the school is now giving the Eagle voting tickets with each scholarship sold.

Don't forget, you can get tickets to the Eagle Piano and Watch Contest by trading at Strickland Bros. 17-4t

WEATHER FORECAST FOR ALABAMA.

Fair tonight and Thursday

The burning issues of the day are always put out on election day, with but slight loss

The people are spending more money than they did awhile. It is a season of the year when money should circulate, even to the extent of finding its way into the editorial chamber

Plethora of time for the Christmas shopping, but if you have the money and know what you want, you might pick it out, pay for it, and lay it aside, then you will not have to cough up for it the first day of January, 1909

This is a season of the year when the citizens of this town and the county should put out some shade trees. But few homes have enough. All would be improved in general appearance if nice shades were grown. This is the time to get about it, and not wait until next summer, when you need them

No one has cursed the council for restoring the old electric light and water rates. This is likely to meet with universal approval. The council has as much interest in the welfare of the town as any other citizen, for it is composed of good citizens, whose property and interests are here

Some of the papers show the picture of the eleven-year-old daughter of Carnegie. It is said that she never goes to school but rather has the school brought to her, and therefore, she never has an opportunity of associating with the common people, the real people of this world. Then, again we wonder who the fortune teller will be whom she will likely marry, for it will just about be the old Andy's luck to draw a son-in-law from bankrupt stock of European nobility, and in this manner accomplish his wishes, that of dying a poor man.

A young man at Arlington committed suicide Sunday night, it is said, because he went to a gambling camp and had his fortune told. The fortune must have been a misfortune, to have preyed upon his mind in any such a manner as that.

"FRAZZLE"

Beaten to a "frazzle" is an expression said to have been used in connection with the recent campaign. The papers took it up all over the country as they always do the new things he says, and made much of it. Some pretended the word had no meaning, and was a coined word for the occasion. Even some of the Alabama papers commented upon it but none that we saw handled the subject properly. All of those papers in the state know what a "frazzle" is. You can ask any ten year old boy and get the correct answer. The word may have no place in the books written by Mr. Webster, but that's nothing. We have many good words that were not in that catalog for a while but they find their places in them in the late edition, for the words convey a better means of expressing one's self than many that are recommended by the dictionary builders.

COMING SOON

Before we have the privilege of voting for another Presidential candidate this town will have round to be about the fourth or fifth city in Alabama. It has started yet to wait it will do during the next four or five years. Those of us who have been watching it grow for dozen years can see its future. One cannot overestimate its future. The first time we get some man in here looking around with money enough to do it we will have a system of electric cars running all over this wire-grass section and then you will see a sight to behold. There are too many good things for this county, too many acres of fertile soil, too many intelligent farmers and business men for this county to go many years more without it's being strangled up with ear lines. The population is fast arriving that will make such an enterprise paying one. Some man will come and see

It is just about long enough after the election, and a mighty good time, for Mr. Bryan to tell the people what he really thinks about government ownership of railroads. From the way the papers had it, he started out one time to say something about it, and somebody hunched him, and the soft peddle was worked over after. He might have not really favored it, but it got out on him, and really did him injustice, if he isn't guntly of saying it

Two men we haven't heard from. They are son-in-law Nick and that young fellow Victor Rosewater had on his paper writing Democratic stuff for his Republican readers

It occasionally happens that the editor of this moral journal gets out of town, in towns where there or no friends or relatives to spang on, and it is necessary to get into a chophouse joint to get a bit to eat. We never could read a bill of fare much; we catch ourselves looking for typographical errors, and criticizing the printing and the press-work, and other like features. But there's just one thing--well, there's several--but one thing particularly, and that we have always felt an inclination to ask the waiter to bring copy on. That is when we come to that word along toward the bottom, "consomme." Never have we attempted to pronounce that word above a whisper, for we have no idea it is called by what it spells. So far, we have been able to pick out a right good dinner, without any of this "consomme," but we have a notion to find out about this the first time a waiter comes around who doesn't look above his job, one who does not look like he is just waiting till he can get a check from home

It is said that there are thirty-one miles of books on the shelves of the British Museum, and that his lot doesn't include campaign speeches. We were just thinking that something like twenty miles of congressional record matter was franked over this country during the last two months, all Republican stuff and all paid for from the general taxes of this government

The Advertiser says that "William Howard Taft will be the only resident with a middle name since Chester A. Arthur. All but even of the nation's twenty-six presidents have been blessed with but a single baptismal name." The Advertiser ought to know, but we had a general idea probably picked up from a copy of "Who's Who in America," or some other work, that Grover Cleveland was once known as Stephen Grover Cleveland, and the first part of it was left off later on in life, very properly, for convenience

It is a relief to some of the Atlanta people to know that J. G. Woodward has come out of the race for Mayor. He was nominated some few weeks back, but his conduct on one occasion since then made the people rise up and put out a man against him, with all the possibility of defeating him

REUNION AT MOBILE.
The Confederate Veterans will hold their reunion at Mobile on Nov. 24-25-26, and the rates from all points are low, one cent a mile, plus 25c. The rates from Dothan will be $6.25. Several from this county will likely go.

Nothing would gratify us more than to see the raw material of this country turned into a finished product. The idea of making a bale of cotton and paying a greater profit on the manufactured product, than the producer receives for making it is not making use of the mind force and business association which rightfully belongs to it. How shall we build up and increase the prosperity of our section? By putting into it the finished products that we grow. The announcement made yesterday that the rates on water and lights, heretofore existing, would not be changed but the old rate on light and power for use, would be continued, must meet with general satisfaction. The general consensus of opinion prevails to believe, that the old rate was ample to meet expenses, under reasonably good management. Rather than have the rates raised as formerly announced, we believe our citizens would vote to sell out the plant and let it be run by private parties

Dr. Emile G. Hirsch, the noted Chicago rabbi, says there is no racial reasons why the Jews should not intermarry with non-Jews. He says "the Jews have intermarried with other stock since Abraham's time. Our alleged racial purity is a figment of the imagination. Moses took a wife who was not even white." He says further that "the modern Jew resembles his English or German or American neighbors and is nothing like the Arab, the purest type of the semite known"

Peking, Nov. 16.—Following the publication of the late Emperor Kuang Hsu's valedictory, yesterday, recommending the reference of important affairs to the empress dowager, now dead, an other edict was issued at one o'clock this morning giving the late dowager empress valedictory, commending the new dowager, Yehonsa, to the confidence of the young emperor's regents.

The new emperor's installation on the throne and the naming of the era will take place, it is expected, on the Chinese new year January 21. At three o'clock this afternoon a conference of diplomats was held to discuss proper steps for the recognition of the new government.

A prominent Chinese merchant of New York explained the situation to some extent by saying that his countrymen would pay no attention to the deaths until officially notified of the same. Perhaps, then, he added, some sort of ceremony might be held here. Another, remarking on the demise of the emperor and empress dowager said, "We don't know whether they are dead or not and we don't care, and most of the Chinese are from Canton, while the emperor was a manchu. Besides that, he was a weak man who was lead by a tyrannical woman."

"This is what you call the authors prayer book," a seaman said bitterly as he kicked a holystone out of the way. "Why is it called that? Well, in the first place, it is called that because the sailor has to kneel down, and, in the second place, because all holystoning is done on Sunday. Don't you know the chap?"

"His days shall thou work and do all that thou art able."

And on the seventh holystone the decks and scuppers were scrubbed.

"The stone is called holystone because the first holystones were bits of tombs stolen from cemeteries. It's got a pious, religious sound—'My and prayer book and Sunday and all that—but it is when he is using this stone that the seaman is most profane."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Gunnery's Patron Saint.

Why was St. Barbara chosen to be the patron saint of all gunners? It is one of those things which are to be known and which one ought to know, but does not. Meanwhile there is the fact that she does intercede for all gunners by land or sea.

In the old French navy the St. Barbe was the gun room, and the same may be found with that meaning attached to it in all dictionaries. Moreover, in France she is the saint not only of gunners, but of all fire brigades. The vapours compels, who for some mysterious reason are a regular chopping block for jokes, hold their holiday on the day of her feast. —Westminster Gazette.
